HONGKONG, THURSDAY, MARCH 18, 1886,

WHILE the public may possibly endeayour to feel thankful for small mercies,

£60,375 for Defensive purposes has been postpoued for one week, the smallness of this concession to public opinion must correspondingly reduce the feeling of thankfulness. What possible good can now result from this postponement of the vote-or from any public discussion that can now take place before the vote be passed—since the Legislative Council in Finance Committee has unanimously recommended the payment of the sum in question? Surely the hollowness of this Finance Committee farce could not be more clearly demonstrated than by the proceedings of the last few days. The discussion on this question, which Mr Keswick describes as 'one of vast importance to this Colony,' is first relegated to a private sitting of the Council-for the Finance meetings comprise no more nor less than the entire Council, except the Governor -where all the arguments by which members are led up to a decision are locked up in the breasts of Honourable Members, who subsequently speak with bated breath about these secret proceed. ings. Theo, when the decision has been arrived at, it takes this peculiar form,the Council sitting in private upon a question of vast importance to this Colony' unanimously recommends that the Council sitting in public shall pass a certain vote, which so vostly affects this Colony as to throw everything out of gear for many years to come. After this unique movement on the part of our local Parliament, one of the people's representatives rises and begs that the empty form of publicly voting on a decision already privately arranged be postponed for a week ! That is to say, the death-warrant of the £60,375 has been signed; but those who have to carry it into execution put in a claim for seven days' grace. Now, we have not one single word to say against the bona fides of a single member of the assembly in which this most unconstitutional proceeding has taken place They are all honourable men, and are at the same time men of honou But they must be either blind to their ridiculous position, or they have been unconsciously misled by the gradual and perhaps imperceptible change for the worse in the character and scope of these gatherings of the Finance Com- pore to-day, for this port. mittee. Co. informs us that the fact; and it is surely high time that some steps were taken to bring back to ns the moderately free system which existed before the elective element was introduced into the Council Chamber. It has been said that discussion is less fettered in the private meetings than i would be in open Council; but the pub-

system is wrong, it is unconstitutional and it ought at once to be changed. But to return to this recommendation that the Council shall do in public what it had previously decided to do in private-viz., to vote the additional sum of £60,375 for Defensive purposes. The report tacks on another distinct understending -we have heard of something like this before on a similar occasion- and report.

on the part of the Council here could never very acriously hamper of bind the movements of an ever-changing Government in England, or of the War Office authorities at Home. The Com mittee further declares, in a strain of perturbed agony, that the payment of this enormous sum will force the Colony to borrow, will so oripple the resources the Colony that urgently-needed sanitary works will be left in abey magnitude. ance, and that it will be impossible for any further contribution to be made for military purposes. Our readers wil see from this statement—and from th hint that the Stamp Duty must be increased-how vastly important question is to every resident here, and how proportionately weighty were the reasons against the Council privately committing itself to any course before the subject was thoroughly discussed in open Council. Since the Imperial thorities are likely to succeed so well in obtaining this little sum of over threeand-a-half lakus of dollars, without any determined stand being made against it, and even in the midst of a discussion as to raising a loan to provide for necessary public works, -it will vastly surprise us if the concession now made flattering marks of attention during his be not turned into a stepping stone for an increase in the Garrison, in order that the new forts may be more effi- gives a detailed account of the visit of the REUTER'S telegram is not a little startling : but the expropriation of the Irish landlords by means of a fund of £200,000,000 may not seem to be so chimerical when it is borne in mind that in 1880 the acreage of Ireland, taken at £21 per acre (or thirty years' purchase) was valued at £420,000,000. A Cuinese Correspondent at Supplying serious anti-Christian riols which have taken place in Sungkong during the last few days. According to his account, a few strangers who had gone to Sungkong to pass their examinations went last Wednesday into the Roman Catholio Church compound, and wanted to pluck some flowers. They were prevented, and taking offence at this they went away, collected their friends, and we turned, then broke into the houses in the Church compound, dragged out the furni ture, smashed it, piled it up into a heap, and set fire to it; the Christian occupants of the houses having meanwhile all run away and hidden themselves. One of the city mandaring then sent a small body of soldiers to quell the disturbance, and after some time quiet was restored. The soldiers remained on guard as the Church, but next day the mob ressembled and tried to force their way into the compound. A sollier, in trying to prevent the men from entering struck one of them on the head, drawing blood, and the mob then made their way to the mandaring yamen, situated the soldiers, and set fire to some houses. The Secretary having read the notice calling the meeting, and the minutes of the last general meeting having been confirm-The Chairman said: The report which your Committee have now to submit, together with the printed correspondence which accompanies it, indicates I think very clearthe importance of the subjects which re engaged the attention of the Committee: These matters have been probably of greater commercial importance than usually are brought before the Chamber in one year (hear hear.) When we last met a war cloud sentiments of our Chairman with reference part of the East and a feeling of uncertainty as to what would be the issue of the blockade of Formosa and of Pakhoi, the right of search exercised by the French men-of-war and the general interruption which was feared consequent upon the threatened extension of hostilities to the far north rendered every one who had commercial relations here anxious as to the future. Fortunately before the year had far advanced these fears were dispelled by the treaty of peace; and a war, which was commenced, I believe, in a great measure through accidental mis understanding and was due to a considerable amount of ignorance, was happily brought to an end. That treaty of peace cannot but affect very materially the interests of this Colony. There is a further treaty now in process of negotiation, which it will be the duty of the Chamber to watch the terms of with care, and it is to be hoped when that treaty is signed and before us, that we shall find in it much to approve and that we may consider that it will redound to the advantage of this Colony by increasing intersourse with the Southern portion of China, and let us hope it will in not too exclusive a manner provide only for the advantage of the French people. Whatever the advantage may be that that treaty gives in the way of frontier provinces to France, I think it should be the effort of the Chamber to take care that this Colony shall also enjoy it through the water ways of the neighbouring provinces. Whatever advantage France may possess between Tonkin and China. I think that the water courses of the South should also be enabled to obtain. Before leaving the subject of war I think it well to remark upon what occurs to me to be the advantage to itself which China obtained by that war. It strikes me that nothing that has occurred during the last quarter of a century has done more to make China a nation, to produce a patriotic feeling among hor wast nopulation, to bring into harmony the ideas of the West with those of China in the way of progress. And we have seen already the development that has taken place in telegraphic communication. We must hope A. P. McEwen, Esq., Hongkong. that the experience of China from the tele-

carried unanimously. Mr MacEwen-Mr Chairman, with reference to the remarks you have made regarding the proposed direct telegraphic communication between Hongkong and Singapore, I am somewhat disappointed that you were not able to take a more hopeful view of what to my mind is a most important matter. Colonel Stanley, in his letter dated the 13th January, says :- My predecessor in his despatch Lords Commissioners of the Treasury were not prepared to recommend Parliament to grant any subsidy for the purpose, and recognise the advantage, in a great degree political and commercial as well as military, ing that the proposal should be further considered, I am not satisfied that the Imperial interest involved would justify the large annual outlay from Imperial funds necessary to provide even the half of the subsidy amounting to twenty thousand pounds (£20,000), which the Eastern Extension Telegraph Company would require for laying and maintaining the proposed

Well, Sir, after reading that letter I put myself in communication with Mr Durran, the agent of the Eastern Extension Telegraph Co. here, who was most courteous last year in giving general information to this Chamber. He very kindly said he would communicate with his Board Drectors at home, with a view to see whether some further reduction in the aubside could not be obtained; and a few days after, I received the following letter:-

There are plenty of them lying idle in the summer months, and I am sure it would not cost very much. I believe myself that if there was proper accommodation for these patients the difficulty about this quarantine question would be solved immediately, because I believe both the naval and military authorities would give way on the No. 115 of 1st May last stated that the point. Now, Sir. I would like to draw your attention to one other matter, and my excuse for doing so is that this is the only opportunity a member of the public has of drawing official attention to matters which are of municipal interest in this Colony; and that is sanitation and the Sanitary Board. Chun Akut was charged with larceny from the person and with malicious wounding. It was alleged that on the evening of the 3rd inst. he assaulted Tsang Tai Yan with a knife, inflicting several wounds, and took fro a his person $5 in silver money. Plaintiff pleaded not guilty. Tsang Tai Yan, a coal coolie, said that on the evening in question he asked the prisoner who was the owner of a small boat to take him to a coal lighter in the harbour. It was agreed that the fare should be 10 cents. The prisoner however hinted that he was doubtful if his fare was possessed of any money whereupon the latter showed him $5 in silver money. When they had got a short 5283,088.48 distance out, the prisoner attacked complainant with a knife, cutting through his isckets, one of which was padded, and wounding his shoulder, and took his $5.
